A Note from the Pastor's Desk

“When the wine run short, the mother of Jesus said to him,
‘They have no wine.’”

Luke 3:22

Dear Friends,

As people of faith, we are always invited by God himself to grow in relationship and friendship with him. He gives us a special grace to notice and acknowledge him in our lives, the lives of our loved ones, neighbors, work, and our parish family. Some are good at this. Some struggle with it. But the invitation remains.

My hope for this New Year, 2025, is that you and I grow in our awareness of the presence and nearness of God in our lives. Could you imagine the fruits of this spiritual practice or exercise? We will be able to see one another as God sees us. We will be able to love him and one another with our whole hearts and minds. We will be able to be present to one another with the heart of Jesus. We will be fostering community, integration, and fraternity. We will be spreading kindness. We will be grateful and give thanks to the Lord for all the blessings he continues to bestow upon us. I hope and pray you can join me in this spiritual journey.

In today's Gospel, we hear Mary saying to Jesus, “They have no wine.” Notice her action. She pleads to her son to solve the embarrassing problem of running out of wine. She does not argue. She does not hassle him. She does not put a guilt trip on him. She simply tells him the fact: “They have no wine.” I consider Mary's words as a prayer that shows great faith.

No wonder the saints had a close relationship with Mary. Looking at the life of the recent Popes we can certainly say that they also had a close relationship and devotion to Mary. Perhaps we can consider starting or strengthening our relationship with Mary. She will show us how to approach her Son, Jesus.

I am happy to let you know that effective immediately Jonathan Andrews is our new chairperson of the Parish Finance Council (PFC). He has been a lifelong member of St. Cletus Parish and is a 2001 graduate of St. Cletus School. He received his law degree and license in 2012 and has been a certified public accountant since 2016. In addition to his role with the Parish Finance Council, Jonathan has been an usher at the Saturday 5:00 PM Mass since 2002. I am confident that he will offer fine leadership, and I look forward to collaborating with him. Please hold him in prayer.

I would like to offer my sincere gratitude to Doug Morrissey for serving as the chairperson of the Parish Finance Council (PFC) since October 2021 until December 2024. It was thanks to his fine leadership that we were able to establish the new PFC for our parish. I enjoyed working with him. I learned a lot from him and found his commitment and dedication to be inspiring. He will be missed. Please hold him in prayer.

It is important to mention that, when I arrived at St. Cletus as your new pastor, July 1st, 2021, there was no Parish Finance Council. It took a lot of prayer, discernment, and more prayer as we established the new PFC. I am grateful to each of the members of the council for the generosity, prayer, witness, and counsel they offer me. They have a genuine care and concern for the parish. I enjoy working with them. Please hold them in prayer.

May the desire to grow in our awareness of the presence of God in our lives and the lives of our loved ones give us peace, joy, and comfort.

Fr. Elmer Romero

A Letter from the Associate Pastor's Desk

Be the person God called you to be

The Wedding at Cana is more than a story of Jesus being obedient to Mary. It's about a changing of the guard too. Jesus says to Mary "My hour has not yet come." But Mary persists. Now here is where things begin the change – John mentions that "there were six stone water jars there for Jewish ceremonial washings, each holding twenty to thirty gallons." So that water would simply be reserved for the washings alone. Jesus has the jars refilled with water. What happens? Somewhere along the way to the headwaiter, the substance changes. It makes no mention of Jesus saying anything else, nor touching the water, nor even the jars. The substance of the water changes.

When I think of this gospel story, I go back to Moses seeking to convince Pharaoh to let Israel go free. The difference is in Moses using the staff to touch the Nile which then changes the water into blood. Jesus, as the Good Shepherd (although we don't know it yet), doesn't need a staff nor even a touch. He simply gives the word. Things are far different than when Moses was around. The guard has changed indeed.

St. Cletus' guard changed just under four years ago. Many good things have taken place in that time. It was a rough time under COVID restrictions at the time. And I am sure there were many people that were vital in helping St. Cletus to remain afloat during that time. Many of those vital people have gone home to our heavenly Father whether during COVID or shortly thereafter. The fact that our parish never gave up because of the deadly virus is a true testament to the leadership of staff members past and present. If there is one thing I have learned about the people of St. Cletus (priest, staff, ministries, and volunteers alike), it would be that they are determined to make the parish flourish for another generation and beyond.

But there has to be a motivating factor beyond love for the parish.

That factor, in my opinion, is hope for the salvation of every person that graces our campus. It means that some of our feelings need to be put on hold or on the back-burner so that anyone who visits us not only feels welcome but that they truly belong to something greater than themselves. That, in my own words, is what it means for St. Cletus to be a designated site for Jubilee Year 2025. It's a responsibility to keep the larger picture in our vision by focusing on being loving, generous, and kind to one person or even one family at a time. There may be some families that are more "advanced" than others. So be it, but not everyone is.

People may say that looking out for the lost is simply the job of the clergy. I beg to differ. If we are truly a people with hope for the salvation of all, then we are all in this task together. Let's say you see someone who is downcast. Should that person only be seen by a priest, or is there an opportunity to maybe be the Christian God called you to be on the day of your baptism?

Today, the guard changed in the gospel. Let's follow the Blessed Mother's advice "Do whatever he tells you." You really cannot go wrong.

Fr. Mike

Kindness Cards

In line with our commitment to spreading kindness both within our parish and the community we have introduced Kindness Cards which are available throughout the church. We encourage you to take one each time you attend Mass and look for opportunities to perform acts of kindness. When you do, give the card to the recipient, inviting them to “pay it forward” and continue to the cycle of kindness. Additionally, they are welcome to email the parish to share how kindness was extended to them.

Together our acts of kindness can become contagious, spreading hope and love one act at a time.

Sharing Reflection of Kindness

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

Today's second reading may sound familiar to many of us. Perhaps you have read it or heard it at a retreat, a day of reflection, or perhaps at Mass three years ago. At any rate, the theological richness of this letter touches our hearts every time.

Before his ministry among the Corinthians, Paul had preached the good news of salvation in Athens. Although he could draw a few believers to Christ, Paul's words fell, for the most part, on deaf ears. Paul was undaunted in his resolve and continued his way to Corinth. After eighteen months, he had established a network of house churches. The Corinthian Christians were enthusiastic, eager, and unrestrained in exercising their faith and the charisms or gifts with which they had been blessed. Paul also reminded the Corinthians of the fundamental premise that underlies today's reading and should inform the heart and mind of every enthusiastic believer: There are many gifts but only one giver; there are different gifts but only one goal, i.e., the common good of the whole believing community. This is what kindness is all about. Sharing the graces, blessings, and gifts we received from God is to be kind.

I have witnessed many acts of kindness at St. Cletus. Kindness is the natural result when we all put our minds and hearts together. We could speak about the gusher who greets and helps our brothers and sisters who come to worship, the volunteers at the food pantry who tirelessly attend to the needy, and those who are part of the staff but go above and beyond to ensure this continues to be a place where kindness flows. Other examples come to mind, but these are too many to list.

The same Spirit that dwells in all of us motivates us to share those talents and gifts God gave us. Let's continue to share them as the Corinthians did so long ago. We find the inspiration in them to continue building a world of kindness.

-Deacon Franco

The true nature of the human heart is kindness, and I am deeply blessed to witness it firsthand through the incredible team of volunteers and catechists at St. Cletus. Their willingness to give of themselves—their time, talents, and dedication—nourishes the spiritual lives of our beloved children. The love and joy they bring to our parish is a powerful testament to the generosity and compassion that lives within their hearts.

Our beautiful children at St. Cletus also embody the kindness of the Father's heart. I see it in the smallest yet most meaningful gestures: sharing crayons with a classmate, eagerly helping to pass out coloring sheets, or simply showing joy in being of service to others. Each time I witness these moments, my heart is touched, and I feel inspired to grow in my own understanding of how to spread the love and kindness they so freely share with me.

Reflecting on these blessings fills my heart with gratitude and turns my thoughts into prayer. It reminds me of what the Heart of the Father truly looks like—kind, compassionate, and ever-present in the simple, thoughtful actions of those around us. Every small act of kindness reflects His love, a constant reminder that we are called to be instruments of His grace in the world.

Year-End Statement by Request Only

As tax time approaches, we ask everyone who would like a year-end statement of their Year 2024 financial offering to the parish to fill out the form below and return it or simply call the office at (708) 352-6209 with your request. You may also email jdion@stcletusparish.com and submit your request electronically.

Rather than mail statements to everyone in the parish, it seems more prudent and conservative to only mail them to those who need them for tax returns. Of course, your statement is available anytime a need for it may arise. Thank you.
