Notes from Father Bob...

Third Sunday of Ordinary Time

“The people that walked in darkness has seen a great light.”

In the busy seaport of Corinth, Paul, the apostle and preacher of Christ, came to plant the Christian faith. It was a tremendous place to come to: a thriving commercial centre, full of people, full of business, full of life and activity. Religions and philosophies vied with each other for pride of place in this great metropolis. Vice and immorality also found great space and scope for their activities. If the faith could be planted here, it could quickly spread to that whole area of southern Greece.

Paul established a strong community of believers, but it was not long before trouble broke out. It was hard enough to live the Christian life in an environment as complex as Corinth, but even harder when internal dissension broke out. Factions and in-fighting developed as people vied to be truer Christians than others. Dissension such as this casts a shadow over people’s lives. Living with arguments and quarrels is like living in darkness and in the shadow of death. Paul has to write to the people and remind them to turn their gaze to the one person who really matters—Jesus Christ. It is this person, this name, this life that unites us. Let the darkness of our squabbling cease, and let us turn our eyes again to the source of our joy, the Lord himself.

On the day Christ died, darkness covered the earth from the sixth hour until the ninth hour. The sun was blotted out, and the day became as black as night. But on Easter day the Son of God rose from the dead, and light returned to this earth. As Paul tells us, no clever philosophy could explain this or understand it. It is God’s doing, and we, who live together in the darkness of this world, have experienced the coming again of the light of life.

Our world is dark enough. Everywhere on earth there is dissension and war. People turn against each other, shouting their slogans, waving their flags, and breathing death and destruction to the foe.

For the sake of justice and for the cause of peace, we cannot continue to live in the dark. Violence must not provoke us into wrongdoing or hostility with others. Paul tells us today—be united in your belief and in your practice. As the spiritual experience of eclipse and darkness might teach us—there is only one God, and we are all God’s children.

2008 Annual Catholic Appeal - “The Lord is my Light...” (Psalm 27:1)

Today we are conducting the annual campaign that asks all parishioners to make a financial commitment to the Archdiocese of Chicago. I want to thank all of you who have given to this campaign in past years. I can assure you that the funds you gave are deeply appreciated by the parishes, schools and people served by the Archdiocese.

Each of us is called to share his or her gifts in support of the Church. We must first support our parish and then our Archdiocese and the Church throughout the world. The Annual Catholic Appeal of the Archdiocese of Chicago is a very effective way to support ministry outside of our parish boundaries. I ask you to continue to be as generous as you have been in the past in answering this important call.

Pray for Our Troops and Peace in Our World

Please continue to remember our young men and women who serve our country so faithfully all over this world. Especially remember those who will find themselves in harms way this day. May God continue to watch over them and keep them each in His loving care and protection. May we truly find peace in this world and an end to strife and war so that these young men and women may return home to us safe and whole. Amen.

In the Peace and Light of Christ, Father Bob

Invest just five minutes a day, and your faith will deepen and grow—a day at a time.

THIRD SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME; CATHOLIC SCHOOLS WEEK BEGINS

Lessons for life

Why is it that we can remember by name just about every teacher we had from first grade until at least eighth grade, if not high school and beyond? Teachers have an impact on our lives that is hard to quantify but is nevertheless enormous. They serve as role models and inspirations for some of the many ways it is possible to grow up and make a contribution to the world. We owe our best teachers our unending thanks—and we give it to them when we make our own best contributions to the world.

TODAY'S READINGS: Isaiah 8:23-9:3; 1 Corinthians 1:10-13, 17; Matthew 4:12-23

"Jesus went throughout Galilee, teaching in their synagogues and proclaiming the good news."

MONDAY, JANUARY 28

FEAST OF THOMAS AQUINAS, PRIEST, DOCTOR

Look to the light

Those who look for demons in everyone are probably contending with a few of their own. Others are more focused on seeking goodness and truth wherever it appears. Thomas Aquinas (1225-1274), by all accounts one of the geniuses of Christian tradition, had more to say of angels than of devils. "God is [our] universal teacher and guardian," he wrote. "But his teaching to [us] is mediated by angels." Consider the "angels" in your life who have mediated wisdom to you by their loving presence, words, and example. How can you be an "angel" for someone who looks up to you?

TODAY'S READINGS: 2 Samuel 5:1-7, 10; Mark 3:22-30

"The scribes said of Jesus, 'By the ruler of the demons he casts out demons.'"

TUESDAY, JANUARY 29

Was Jesus a family man?

Those who espouse "family values" might squirm a bit at the passages in the gospel where Jesus seems to be showing a bit of disrespect to his own family. Jesus is teaching us here that our loyalties and obligations go beyond our families of origin. As Christians, we belong to a larger family with larger responsibilities—to listen to the words of Jesus and to seek the will of God. Jesus redefines family, not with the intention of excluding anyone, but rather to invite everyone to a join a greater family with a greater vision of family values.

TODAY'S READINGS: 2 Samuel 6:12b-15, 17-19; Mark 3:31-35

"Jesus said, 'Whoever does the will of God is my brother and sister and mother.'"

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 30

Bless my soil

You can't always take parables in the gospels on face value. They do not always mean what they seem to be saying—which is why it helps to have a good study Bible or scripture commentary at hand when you break open a Bible. But every now and then the gospel writers have Jesus explain exactly what he meant. Such is the case with the parable of the seeds and the soil. What to make of the birds eating some seeds while others wither or were choked by weeds? Easy: The seed is the Word of God. From some it is taken. Others show some initial enthusiasm but go on to something else after a time. Still others turn away when trouble strikes or let worldly concerns distract them. But who is the rich soil? The ones who hear the Word and accept it. Where does the seed of God's Word fall in your life?

TODAY'S READINGS: 2 Samuel 7:4-17; Mark 4:1-20

"And these are the ones sown on the good soil: They hear the Word and accept it and bear fruit."

THURSDAY, JANUARY 31

Don't just sit there

Many people it seems are locked into the understanding of their faith they had when they were children, or the one they get from the tiny pieces of scripture they hear in the Sunday readings or Father's homily or elsewhere in the liturgy. To those in that situation, Jesus has a message: To really understand and be able to share his message, ponder it and grow in understanding of it or you'll lose what you have. The greater your knowledge of faith, the deeper it will be.

TODAY'S READINGS: 2 Samuel 7:18-19, 24-29; Mark 4:21-25

"Pay attention to what you hear; the measure you give will be the measure you get, and still more will be given you."

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 1

One sin does not deserve another

Among the many vivid stories in the Old Testament is the one of King David, the woman Bathsheba, and her husband Uriah. While Uriah was away fighting one of David's wars, the king had an adulterous liaison with Bathsheba, who became pregnant. Instead of taking responsibility, David tried to have Uriah killed, eventually succeeding by ordering him placed in the most dangerous part of the battle line—going to a murderous extreme to avoid facing up to what he did. How often do we, like David, attempt to cover one sin with another, instead of moving from sin to the grace of repentance and forgiveness?

TODAY'S READINGS: 2 Samuel 11:1-4a, 5-10a, 13-17; Mark 4:26-34

"Set Uriah in the forefront of the hardest fighting, and then draw back from him, so that he may be struck down and die."

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 2

FEAST OF THE PRESENTATION OF THE LORD

Temple time

After a while Mary and Joseph probably got the idea they never knew what was going to happen when Jesus went to the temple. When, as faithful Jews, they presented him there, they encountered two elderly holy folks who let them know that the boy was the messiah they and the people had been waiting for. Then on a future Passover trip they discovered their precocious child had stayed behind in the temple and was dialoguing with an amazed group of teachers. Later in his life some pretty big things happen when Jesus goes to the temple, and the disciples gather there after his resurrection. What happens when you encounter Christ in the temple?

TODAY'S READINGS: Malachi 3:1-4; Hebrews 2:14-18; Luke 2:22-40

"And the Lord whom you seek will suddenly come to his temple."

Faith Family Future

We are celebrating Catholic Schools Week today beginning with the 9:30am liturgy. Following the liturgy we invite you to experience Faith Family Future at St. Cletus School. We are hosting an Open House today from 10:30am to 12:15pm. Please join us as we showcase our school and Catholic education. We look forward to your visit!

A big St. Cletus thank you to the entire St. Cletus Community for their continued support. We are a great school because of all the support we receive through time, talent and treasure.

Along with adding Spanish to our Curriculum this year, we are working on strengthening and revising our religion curriculum. We recently purchased two Smart Boards to enhance learning. A Smart Board is an interactive whiteboard that positively affects learning by creating more opportunities for student involvement, motivation and enthusiasm within the classroom.

Included in today's bulletin are bookmarks created by our students as a thank you for the support from our fellow parishioners. On behalf of the school community, I would like to extend my sincere appreciation for sharing your gifts with the children. Please stop by our Open House and see for yourself the accomplishments of our students.

MORE GIVING TREE THANKS

Besides the personal words, hugs, tears, and smiles of appreciation we received on the day of our gift and food distribution, at the January Food Pantry, and in many phone calls, we have also received numerous cards. I'd like to share a couple of those heartfelt thank-you messages, because our client's words say it best and mean the most:

Dear Angels of St. Cletus,

We hope this merry Christmas season brings you special happiness. You have made ours wonderful, too! God Bless You for all you do during this season and throughout the year."

"A thank you isn't enough to say, for the help and hope you have given my family in the hard times. May you be blessed in the New Year."

"This was our best Christmas ever, when we thought it would be the worst. Thank you from the bottom of our hearts."

FOOD PANTRY UPDATE...

Please remember to bring your donations of in-date non-perishables to Church when you come to Mass. Our drop-off bins are now back in their regular spot in the Madonna della Strada Shrine in the church vestibule. At this time we are in extreme need of canned fruit, cereal, tuna, rice, dry pinto beans and paper products. Thank you for your ongoing support.

A Special Thank You goes to Pat Rogers, Lyons Township Supervisor, for his ongoing efforts to support the clients of the St. Cletus Food Pantry. We received a check for $1000.00 from the Township of Lyons, in time to help us greatly with the parish Giving Tree Project and our monthly food distributions. His letter also states "On behalf of the Town Board, I wish to commend the St. Cletus Parish for providing this food pantry in order to assist the less fortunate." Let's continue to work together to help the working poor in our area.
