SHARE THE HOPE

The readings for today's celebration of the Ascension of the Lord once again remind us that as Christians we are people of hope. In the second reading Saint Paul eloquently exhorts the Ephesians to enlighten their hearts so that they will know the hope and glory that come from being people who place their trust in the Lord Jesus. In the story of the Ascension, recounted in the first reading, the Lord Jesus assures the disciples that the Holy Spirit's power will come upon them. Finally, in the Gospel, the Lord lets the disciples know that their mission is to spread the hope of the gospel to all the nations. This wonderful feast keeps our eyes focused on the hope in which we were grounded on the day of our baptism. (c) Copyright, J. S. Paluch Co.

Notes from Father Bob...

Solemnity of the Ascension of the Lord

The Church is human; the Church is missionary; the Church is the community of hope. This Feast of the Ascension is a festival of hope for the whole human family. The great theologian, Karl Rahner, described it as a "festival for the future of the world." Humanity without hope becomes less than human, sometimes monstrously so. The Ascension confronts all human hopelessness. Our destiny has been revealed. One of us, Jesus of Nazareth, as truly human as he is divine, has gone ahead and awaits us at God's right hand. This is the hope that must be shared with everyone. Hence we have the mission given to us by Christ. The first reading reminds us that we are not to be an escapist Church, staring into the sky. Nor can we be a Church of narrow agenda, seeking to restore some golden past. We cannot be anything else but a Church with a message of hope for every human being. To achieve this, we ourselves must truly be men and women of hope. Our hope is not just for an ultimate destiny, but for our here and now. In our present circumstances, we can be tempted to hopelessness. While retaining the vision of eternity for ourselves and those dear to us, we can effectively become less than hopeful when it comes to the great mission of the Church. We have become a minority. We are assaulted by bad news. We are demoralized by scandal. We are simply one voice among many. Religion seems to be privatized, and it is hard to feel the imperative of the great mission. Hopelessness, the temptation of those who think that they are alone and helpless, can so easily set in. Therefore, we must renew our faith in Christ's final promise. Pope John Paul II made these words of Christ the foundation of the Church's program for the new millennium. He called us to a trusting awareness of Christ's presence among us. We also renew our faith in St. Paul's message today: we are the body of Christ; Christ is the head of the Church: that is, the head of our parish, our diocese, as well as the universal Church! With such a head, how can we be anything else but a body filled with enduring hope and with all the energy of mission?

Pentecost 2008 at Saint Cletus

Next weekend we will celebrate the Great Feast of Pentecost the birthday of the Church. Indeed it will be a weekend of real celebration. We will not only be celebrating the birthday of the Church but First Holy Communion and Confirmation. It will also be a weekend that celebrates all of our mothers on Mother's Day. I cannot imagine a more appropriate way to CELEBRATE CHURCH together as a parish family. It will truly be a day filled with great blessings and abundant grace. We will witness the Holy Spirit in action BIG TIME. Let us all "Rejoice and Be Glad" as we give thanks for our Church, our First Communicants, our Newly Confirmed, and our Beautiful and Loving Mothers.

Catholic Charities Annual Mother's Day Appeal

The Annual Catholic Charities Mother's Day Appeal will take place next weekend at all the Masses. This year's theme is "Rebuilding Lives, Restoring Dignity." The wonderful and successful work of Catholic Charities in reaching out to those in need and helping people to be lifted up is due totally to your generosity and commitment. I urge you to continue to assist with this most important work of the gospel through your support of this year's collection. You will find envelopes in the pews to assist you in making a donation. I am confident that you will be as generous as usual and make this St. Cletus' most successful response to this very worthwhile appeal.

17th Annual Mother's Day Baby Shower

Next weekend we will once again be holding our Annual Baby Shower and Carnation Sale in support of our parish Right to Life Activities. Please be as generous as possible in affirming this most important work on behalf of "LIFE." Your donations help to keep this vital ministry strong and viable for all God's children. Thank you for your commitment to this life giving cause.

SEVENTH SUNDAY OF EASTER/THE ASCENSION OF THE LORD
The torch has been passed

Whether or not we're asked to believe that in the celebration of the Ascension of the Lord Jesus literally levitated to the clouds, we can still understand the imagery. We've seen film taken from rockets as the launch pad grows smaller and gradually we see more and more of the earth, even to its entirety. The higher you go, the more is within your range of view. So also the message of Christ begins in a tiny country 2,000 years ago, but its purpose and effect go out, wider and wider, to all the world. How? The angels charmingly tease the disciples: "Why are you standing there looking at the sky?" In other words, "You who are church, you who are the body of Christ on earth: Get going. You've got work to do." Christ is no longer here in his flesh, but Christ is here in you.

TODAY'S READINGS: Seventh Sunday: Acts 1:12-14; 1 Peter 4:13-16; John 17:1-11a/Ascension: Acts 1:1-11; Ephesians 1:17-23; Matthew 28:16-20

"You will be my witnesses in Jerusalem . . . to the ends of the earth."

MONDAY, MAY 5

EASTER WEEKDAY

Empty or full?

What is Saint Paul's problem? He seems to be splitting hairs in Acts when he insists that the baptism rendered by John the Baptist isn't as good as the baptism in Jesus' name. But remember: John baptized folks for the sake of repentance. This emptied you of former sins. Meanwhile, the baptism of Jesus fills us with his Spirit. Jesus once warned about the danger of sweeping your house clean of demons and leaving it vulnerably empty. It's never enough to get rid of the bad. We've got to embrace the good. Open your heart to the Spirit of goodness.

TODAY'S READINGS: Acts 19:1-8; John 16:29-33

"Paul said to them, 'Did you receive the Holy Spirit when you became believers?'"

TUESDAY, MAY 6

Worldly wisdom

In various faith circles you will hear the call to be "in the world but not of it." What does being in the world suggest to you? Perhaps it evokes images of our mortality, our limitations, the fact that we all fall under the laws of nature. Or perhaps it evokes images of overreaching materialism, of the desire for worldly possessions. But might the words also lead us to ponder the incarnate (literally, "enfleshed") nature of our faith and our God? No other tradition brings the divine and the human together in quite the same way as Christianity does, where the two realities coexist in one person. Perhaps this is what it can mean to be "in the world but not of it."

TODAY'S READINGS: Acts 20:17-27; John 17:1-11a

"And now I will no longer be in the world, but they are in the world . . ."

WEDNESDAY, MAY 7

EASTER WEEKDAY

And the work goes on

At his death, Mexican revolutionary Pancho Villa said, "Don't let it end like this. Tell them I said something," a hope to be remembered by at least a memorable word. As Easter continues to echo in 2008, we have not only noble words and mighty deeds by which to remember the Risen One, but a monumental task because he did not wish to leave only what he said and did, but that the Father's work continue through our own hands. He had been sent; he sends us—perhaps with memorable words or deeds of our own but assuredly with the task of loving one another. If we do, his transforming love will not end.

TODAY'S READINGS: Acts 20:28-38; John 17:11b-19

"As you sent me into the world, so I sent them into the world."

THURSDAY, MAY 8

EASTER WEEKDAY

See how they smile

"I am he as you are he as you are me and we are all together." So goes the opening line of the Beatles hit "I Am the Walrus." Who's to know if "the eggman" is an Easter reference or if John is the walrus? But the verse bears an uncanny resemblance to the Lord's words in the gospel: "I in them and you in me, that they may be . . ." together! Togetherness is a sweet goal; it is the joy of relationships, family, and community. It is the unity of the Holy Spirit poured out at Pentecost. Pray for the love of God and you might be the walrus!

TODAY'S READINGS: Acts 22:30; 23:6-11; John 17:20-26

"And I have given them the glory you gave me, so that they may be one, as we are one."

FRIDAY, MAY 9

EASTER WEEKDAY

The God of second chances

The story of Saint Peter is one of the most fascinating in the New Testament. He veered between misunderstanding and understanding, denial and faith, but always came through in the end. He got second chances and took advantage of them. Having breakfast with the risen Jesus and the other disciples, he had the opportunity to reverse his earlier three denials of knowing Christ when Jesus asked him—three times—if Peter loved him. To each of Peter's professions of love, Jesus responded with "feed my sheep, tend my lambs": Jesus the good shepherd was telling Peter to be the same for the community. Despite life's failures, God always holds out the offer of return. Be like Peter and accept it.

TODAY'S READINGS: Acts 25:13b-21; John 21:15-19

"Jesus said to Peter, 'Simon son of John, do you love me?'"

SATURDAY, MAY 10

EASTER WEEKDAY

Limited options

We only have one choice as disciples: Follow Jesus. We can whine and rail and question and doubt, but in the end our task remains the same: Follow Jesus. What does it mean to follow Jesus? To be willing to give our lives for the sake of others. It sounds extreme, but most of us do this every day as we care for our families, serve in our communities, and provide dedicated work on the job. Giving of yourself doesn't require anything in return. So nothing can stop the process. No waiting around for gratitude or favors or comparing who got what. Just follow Jesus.

TODAY'S READINGS: Acts 28:16-20, 30-31; John 21:20-25

"Jesus said to Peter, 'If it is my will that he remain until I come, what is that to you? Follow me!'"

REBUILD LIVES...

RESTORE DIGNITY IN FAMILIES.

Mother's Day Appeal - May 11, 2008

Families in crisis come to Catholic Charities to rebuild their lives. In 2007, more than 178,000 families in Cook and Lake counties found new strength. They learned job skills, gained control of their finances, developed healthier ways of communicating during counseling sessions, joined recovery programs, and found answers to some of life's most pressing problems.

Please give generously to Catholic Charities' Mother's Day Appeal on May 11, 2008. Envelopes are available in the pews this weekend.

Please remember our sick in your prayers: Betty Niwa, Donal Fox, Robert Haws, Roy Laurence, Bernie Kelly, Mary Barnish, Elaine Bianco, Freda Guide, Leslie Imholt, Ryan Cosgrove, Ann Fahey, Joan Klein, Sheila Nash, Rosemary Sylvester, Rose Olferchek, Steve Zeman, Mary Jane Taylor, Sister Arlene Gibson, Zach Sperka, Marguerite May, Mike Patzelt, Richard Taylor, Rita D'Onofrio, Marilyn Matesevac, Hunter Peters, Cacilia Ziegler, Ruth Calandriello, Ann Marie Nabor, Nadine Pankow, Patty Johnson, Agnes Suennen, Joseph Johnson, Stephanie Yakowicz, Virginia Wilson, Gail Pankow-Locker, Josie Spoto, Larry Wojnar, Louise Jaunich, Frank Werner, Agnes Olszowka, Michael Karpinski, Augustin Jaso, Marie Krolecki, Mary O'Rourke, Debbie Broz and Scott May. Also pray for our parishioners who are in nursing homes or are homebound unable to attend Mass. Please know we pray daily for our sick.

St. Cletus Students win top awards in Illinois EPA 2008 Poster, Poetry and Prose Contest

At a special reception in Springfield on April 5, St. Cletus students were honored for their submission to the Environmental Protection Agency's annual contest.

Each spring, students learn about environmental protection of the air, land, and water through the Agency's environmental education guide. Students then articulate what they learned in a poster or written piece. This year's theme was minimizing air pollution with "Global Warming – What Can We Do?" More than 20,000 students across the state submitted an entry in the contest. 50 students were recognized. Four of those students attend St. Cletus, including 6th graders Julia Condotti, Sabrina Pusatera, Meagan Finucane and 5th grader Jill Porretta. Julia also received one of 12 Honorable Mention medals in recognition of creativity, time and effort, and artistic skills. Congratulations, girls!

Special Science Awards to St. Cletus students

At the Illinois Junior Academy of Science Regional Science Fair in March, two St. Cletus 8th graders received special recognition.

STEWARDSHIP

ASCENSION SUNDAY

"Go therefore, and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all that I have commanded you."

In our Lord's last words to the Apostles before ascending to heaven Jesus makes it clear that our Baptism comes with an obligation. We are to do all that Jesus commanded us — which means caring for the poor, teaching the children and using our gifts to carry on the work of the Lord.
