LOVE ONE ANOTHER

In the Gospel for the Sixth Sunday of Easter we are met with an extraordinary challenge: Jesus commands us to "love one another as I love you" (John 15:12). The letter from John echoes this command. Of course, we are to love those in our family, those we work with, those we like. But the scriptures make clear that we are also to love those we never notice, those we purposely avoid, and even those we are tempted to despise.

In this Sunday's selection from the Acts of the Apostles Peter shows us how far God's love extends, and how far our love should extend in response. Peter realizes that God no longer "shows partiality" to the Jews, sharing divine love exclusively with them. Christ has revealed that God's love extends to all people, and so should ours.

Thank you so much for serving our parish as an Altar Server, Lector, Extraordinary Minister of Communion or Usher. Your skills and training are so valuable and we count on you and look for you at Mass.

NOTES FROM FATHER BOB...

Sixth Sunday of Easter 2009

Jesus has just used the image of the vine to show his disciples how they need to be bound into him in order to bear fruit. Without his living presence, they will be like dead branches, good for nothing but to be thrown on the fire and burnt. It is only with the experience of the resurrection and the receiving of the Holy Spirit that the disciples will be able to appreciate fully what Jesus is saying and center their lives accordingly.

For this reason, in his final discourse before his death, the style of Jesus' speech becomes more and more that of the risen Lord. He describes, as though it already exists, the new dispensation in which his gift of life will prevail. This new life is the love which comes from the Father to the Son and which the Son chooses to share with his followers. The sign that they have been touched by this love is that they follow his commandments. They remain attached to him and full of the joy this love brings. The new life is displayed in friendship, a relationship between equals rather than that of master and servants.

As Jesus hands over responsibility for his mission to his followers he empowers them with his own strength. His laying down of his life will be part of this handing over. Jesus has told his disciples all they need to know and shared with them the mysteries given to him by his Father. It will be his followers' task now to bear the lasting fruit of the divine love. How can they hope to do this? By loving one another. Their love for each other is both the sign and the source of the continuing power of Christ's love in them. Only if they love one another will they remain in his love.

To love in this way we have first of all to let Christ's love come alive in us, or more accurately, to recognize and acknowledge it as it bubbles up in the Spirit. For what counts is not our love as such, which in its unredeemed human form tends to be conditional. It is rather the divine love which transforms our human loving so that we are able to affirm and value the uniqueness of everyone we meet. It is the divine love living within us that leads to the respect, delight, support and challenge which color our friendships and our exchanges and move us to try and create social structures that reflect the same values. In this way we bear fruit, fruit that will last.

SIXTH SUNDAY OF EASTER - The collection for new life

They'll pass the basket this Sunday for the Catholic Communication Campaign. It's one of the ways we get the word out, telling others about the great joy we have in the Risen Christ. Another way to share our faith is to live what we believe. When our lives proclaim the love of God to others, and the forgiveness that is ours in Christ, we unleash a mighty power. People yearn for what we have, and the power of God's Spirit is awakened in them. Yes, let's put money in the collection, but let's also strive to inject new life into the world around us.

TODAY'S READINGS: Acts 10:25-26, 34-35, 44-48; 1 John 4:7-10; John 15:9-17

"While Peter was still speaking, the Holy Spirit fell upon all who heard the word."

MONDAY, MAY 18

FEAST OF JOHN I, POPE, MARTYR - No-win situations

"Between a rock and a hard place" describes those unenviable times when you can't win—and will probably lose—whichever way you go. Popes have not been immune from similar binds. Despite his protests, the sixth-century Pope John I was sent by a king, Theodoric, to try to get an emperor, Justin, to tone down a decree against heretics, the Arians. It was also a threat: Don't succeed, and there will be trouble for your flock back home. When John returned to Italy, Theodoric accused him of conspiring with Justin and had him thrown in jail, where he died of ill-treatment. When you're in a situation where it's hard to see the best way to go, ask yourself which course of action brings the most good and the least bad to all those involved.

TODAY'S READINGS: Acts 16:11-15; John 15:26-16:4a

"Indeed, an hour is coming when those who kill you will think that by doing so they are offering worship to God."

TUESDAY, MAY 19

EASTER WEEKDAY - Who's in charge here?

Ever wonder just what a belief in Jesus saves us from? It's simple: Jesus saves us from ourselves and a warped worldview that puts us in power instead of someone infinitely more competent: God. Once we let go of our illusions of control and accept God's direction, our burdens are lifted and we feel compelled to live our lives for others: to feed the hungry, clothe the naked, welcome the stranger, free the prisoner, and gather to offer praise and thanksgiving for the way that has been lit for us. Remember to follow the leader today.

TODAY'S READINGS: Acts 16:22-34; John 16:5-11

"Men, what must I do to be saved?" And they said, 'Believe in the Lord Jesus.'"

WEDNESDAY, MAY 20

FEAST OF BERNARDINE OF SIENA, RELIGIOUS, MISSIONARY

Busy, busy, busy

In these days of frequent job changes and overwork, the modern multitasker might look to Saint Bernardine (1380-1444). With some companions he set in order a hospital for plague-sufferers when no one else wanted to go near it. He then joined the Franciscans and lived quietly but later was called to what became his favorite activity: preaching. Offered the position of bishop of Perugia, he turned it down but did accept a leadership role with the Franciscans, where he promoted education among the friars. He then "retired" to resume his true bliss as a traveling preacher. However many activities you choose and responsibilities you are asked to take on, remember to keep them grounded in God.

TODAY'S READINGS: Acts 17:15, 22-18:1; John 16:12-15
"In him we live and move and have our being"

THURSDAY, MAY 21

FEAST OF CHRISTOPHER MAGALLANES - Dying to find a better way

Christopher Magallanes was a priest in Mexico during a difficult time in Mexican history. On the heels of the Mexican Revolution of 1910-1917, the Catholic Church and the Mexican state were at loggerheads. Magallanes wrote and preached against armed rebellion but was falsely accused of promoting armed uprising during what came to be called the Cristero Rebellion. Arrested in 1927 on his way to celebrate Mass, he gave his few possessions—as well as absolution—to his executioners. His last words were "I die innocent, and ask God that my blood may serve to unite my Mexican brethren." Since 1929 church and state in Mexico have avoided further violent conflict and are on much better terms than in the past. Pray for peaceful resolutions to conflicts in the world today.

TODAY'S READINGS: Acts 18:1-8; John 16:16-20

"Very truly, I tell you . . . you will have pain, but your pain will turn into joy."

FRIDAY, MAY 22

FEAST OF RITA OF CASCIA, RELIGIOUS -

Look again at your lost causes

Saint Rita, patroness of lost causes, was married at 12 and endured years of abuse from her husband before he was murdered. Still, she forgave her husband before he died and later reconciled her family to his murderers. Then Rita spent the last years of her life in the convent where she had wanted to be from the beginning. If Rita had not taken the long view, if she had not supported her desire with prayer and active, faithful waiting, her life would surely have ended up a "lost cause." Sometimes what seems like a "lost cause" is only an incomplete picture, an unfinished story. What in your life feels like a "lost cause"? How can you take the long view? And what can you do in the meantime?

TODAY'S READINGS: Acts 18:9-18; John 16:20-23

"So you have pain now; but I will see you again, and your hearts will rejoice, and no one will take your joy from you."

SATURDAY, MAY 23

EASTER WEEKDAY - Coworkers for Christ

The 12 apostles did a great job at teaching and spreading the Good News of Jesus, but they weren't the only ones. The New Testament has many references to women and men, married couples, and single people who were leaders in the early church. Saint Paul often wrote of these leaders, noting how indispensable they were to the ministry of the church. In the Acts of the Apostles we are introduced briefly to Priscilla and Aquila, a wife and husband team who worked in Corinth and Ephesus. The two are presented as well-known and well-respected partners in ministry in the early church. Spend some time with Acts 18 and learn more about how this couple worked together to spread the Good News.

TODAY'S READINGS: Acts 18:23-28; John 16:23b-28

"[Apollos] began to speak boldly in the synagogue; but when Priscilla and Aquila heard him, they took him aside and explained the Way of God to him more accurately."

Dear St Cletus Parish,

I would like to say thanks to all of you who expressed to me your sympathies, personally and through cards, on the event of my Grandfather's passing to a better life. I would also like to thank, in a special way, those of you who offered Masses for the repose of his soul. It was an additional comfort to hear his name being mentioned at Mass.

Gestures like these do make a difference in the lives of those who have suffered a loss. May God continue to bless you for your kindness, but most of all, for your empathy, solidarity, generosity, and love.

*Yours truly,
Fr. Edgar*

Do you love Jesus? Do you consider Him your friend? Jesus says that if we love Him we should be willing to offer whatever we have to Him, not because we want praise and glory, but simply because we love Him.
