NOTES FROM FATHER BOB...

FOURTH SUNDAY OF EASTER 2010

The imagery of sheep and shepherds rests on the experience of the early people of Israel, who were herdsmen. Sheep were absolutely central to the survival of the people. The sheep provided so much: meat, milk, clothing, prosperity. Survival depended on the health and welfare of the flocks. The life of the shepherd revolved around the care of his flock. There is a relationship of mutual dependence – a shepherd literally would defend his sheep with his life, if need be.

So perhaps it is not such an unsuitable image to describe God's love for us. His care is total, absolute – as if his own life depended on it. And of course in Christ, we see clearly that he is the good shepherd who does lay down his life for his sheep. In today's gospel, Jesus speaks of the relationship which exists between sheep and shepherd – the sheep recognize, know and trust their shepherd. The shepherd in turn provides his flock with everything they need – even eternal life. He jealously guards and defends them, and leads them to the Father.

And perhaps even in its less than complimentary aspects, the image of the sheep is not so inappropriate. The Bible speaks of people who disobey God as being like sheep who have gone astray. Christ is the shepherd who seeks out the stray and never loses his sheep. So even when we are stupid, misguided or neglected, we see that God in Jesus will never abandon us or leave us unprotected.

Scripture describes Jesus as a lamb as well as a shepherd. Sheep were so important to the people of Israel that it was natural for them to offer what was most precious to them in sacrifice to God. Lambs were a frequent sacrificial offering, especially associated with the Passover celebration of God's liberation of the people from slavery in Egypt. Describing Jesus as the Lamb of God is a way of saying that Jesus' self-offering is the ultimate act of worship, the ultimate sacrifice which can be made to God; and that through the Lamb we are set free from sin, liberated from death. The second reading tells us the Lamb is our Shepherd, who ensures that we will never hunger or thirst again. Jesus the Shepherd is also the Lamb sacrificed to take away all our sadness and give us eternal life.

To accept Christ as our shepherd means setting aside time each day to get to know him, learning to recognize his voice, becoming familiar with his ways and values. It means learning to be obedient, trusting him, following where he leads us. The sheep follows the shepherd, the disciple follows the Master. It brings a sense of security: God is in control of our lives, caring for us. We know we are loved and cared for passionately – even when we go astray. He always forgives and seeks us out. It means we have a sense of belonging – not just to God but to others in Christ's flock. There is but one flock and one shepherd: that means entering into relationship with others, it means building community. Finally it also means that we learn to imitate Christ as the lamb, willing to sacrifice ourselves in the service of this community.

THANK YOU FOR YOUR GENEROSITY AND SUPPORT

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all the parishioners of St. Cletus Parish for their commitment and efforts to see that we can continue to meet all of our financial obligations. Your generosity and willingness to contribute the extra $2 or $3 dollars each week allows us to minister and serve the people of God through our many ministry areas. Your help allows us to continue to reach out to the poor and those in need during these difficult economic times. Your efforts are greatly appreciated by all but especially by me as your pastor. Please be assured as we complete our work on next year's budget that we are making every effort to control costs wherever possible.

May God continue to bless your hard work and efforts as you support the work of the gospel within our parish family. I ask for God's abundant blessings upon each of you. You remain in my daily prayers and thoughts.

*Easter Blessings,

FOURTH SUNDAY OF EASTER

Now hear this

The root of the word obey, the dictionary tells us, is akin to “hear.” People tend to think only about the second part of obedience—following the rules, submitting to another’s command. If the history of a word means anything, though, then the first part of obeying would be hearing. And in this sense hearing involves more than simply words entering one’s mind. It also includes listening: taking in what someone or something is saying and reflecting on it, making it part of who one is, learning. That process is the prelude to action. No different is the Word of God. However the gospel message comes to you—in scripture, liturgy, your beliefs, opportunities to serve—you are called to listen and then to do.

TODAY’S READINGS: Acts 13:14, 43-52; Revelation 7:9, 14b-17; John 10:27-30

“My sheep hear my voice. I know them, and they follow me.”

MONDAY, APRIL 26

EASTER WEEKDAY

Feeling sheepish?

There is nothing cuter than a fuzzy baby lamb. But what about when they get older and are bona-fide sheep? Not so much. Sheep aren’t the smartest or cuddliest of creatures. When left to their own devices they’ll wander, get lost or maimed, destroy their own pasture, and panic over just about anything. Unfortunately for us it is sheep, not lambs, to which Jesus compares his followers. Smelly, erratic, hapless sheep. While we may have our cute, fuzzy moments, we also have many not-so-cuddly occasions where we are difficult to love, difficult to be around, and just plain difficult. In Jesus’ words we find not condemnation but assurance that even in these times he is there for us, calling our name. In what sheeplike moments do you hear his voice?

TODAY’S READINGS: Acts 11:1-18; John 10:1-10

“He calls his own sheep by name and leads them out.”

TUESDAY, APRIL 27

EASTER WEEKDAY

What are we waiting for?

Skepticism is a way of life for a lot of folks. The people of Jerusalem in the time of Jesus were no exception. Even after miraculous healings, amazing teachings, and works of wonder, they still waited for Jesus to reveal himself as the savior they were hoping for. What would it take to get them on board? A better question is: What will it take for us to get on board? A lifetime exposed to the gospels, sacraments, saints, and moral teaching is often not enough to get us to the tipping point of committed discipleship. If you need more, ask for it. God will supply!

TODAY’S READINGS: Acts 11:19-26; John 10:22-30

“How long will you keep us in suspense? If you are the Messiah, tell us plainly.”

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 28

FEAST OF PETER CHANEL, PRIEST, MARTYR; LOUIS MARY DE MONTFORT, PRIEST

Caring as Christ cared

Remember the last time you were sick and somebody cared for you? Better still, remember when you were sick and nobody cared for you? Big difference, eh? That’s because care is more than medicine, more than a bowl of chicken soup. Care for the sick is being there to comfort, to share the experience. It’s a Christ-event, a component of life we celebrate as a sacrament. The lives of the two saints we honor today, Peter Chanel and Louis de Montfort, were marked by the care of the sick. Make your next encounter with illness a saintly moment.

TODAY’S READINGS: Acts 12:24-13:5a; John 12:44-50

“I have come as light into the world, so that everyone who believes in me should not remain in the darkness.”

THURSDAY, APRIL 29

FEAST OF CATHERINE OF SIENA, VIRGIN, DOCTOR OF THE CHURCH

Meet the challenge

Catherine of Siena was a remarkable woman who transcended the narrow roles to which the laity, and women in particular, were subject in medieval Europe. She advised popes, negotiated settlements, kept a continuous correspondence with her followers all over Italy, and composed The Dialogue, an account of her conversation with God, which is widely considered a masterpiece of spiritual literature. Amazingly she accomplished all this despite being almost completely illiterate! How? She dictated everything. Each one of us has some physical or intellectual shortcoming. Today, before you feel defeated by a particular limitation, remember Catherine and ask, “How can I work around this?”

TODAY’S READINGS: Acts 13:13-25; John 13:16-20

“If you know these things, you are blessed if you do them.”

FRIDAY, APRIL 30

FEAST OF PIUS V, POPE - Let’s clean up our act

You may not have heard of Pope Saint Pius V (1504-1572) but your Catholicism certainly has been shaped by him. With the church in disarray and the Protestant Reformation gaining steam with its critique of corrupt clergy, Pius saw the need to restore discipline and morality. This no-nonsense pope brought qualities of his native Dominican order to bear on the problem—more austere living, no “perks,” and high moral standards. Influential at the Council of Trent, Pius V updated the church’s catechism and standardized the liturgy in a form that stood for nearly 400 years. Given his zeal he didn’t win many popularity contests, but he may well have saved the church from spiraling into dissolution. Is there an area of your own life that could use of bit of pious reform?

TODAY’S READINGS: Acts 13:26-33; John 14:1-6

“You know the way to the place where I am going.”

SATURDAY, MAY 1

FEAST OF SAINT JOSEPH THE WORKER

Labor gains

Not coincidentally we celebrate Saint Joseph the Worker on May 1, or May Day, which is internationally recognized as a day to celebrate the achievements of the labor movement. It has been just a little over a century since Pope Leo XIII’s groundbreaking encyclical Rerum novarum advocated the rights of workers and gave laborers across Europe, Australia, and the U.S. the impetus they needed to achieve such reforms as the end of child labor and the institution of two-day weekends, eight-hour workdays, 40-hour work weeks, state-regulated working conditions, standard minimum wages, paid holidays, and the right of workers to organize. Enjoy your weekend and remember whom you have to thank for it.

TODAY’S READINGS: Genesis 1:26-2:3 or Colossians 3:14-15, 17, 23-24; Matthew 13:54-58

“Where did this man get such wisdom and mighty deeds?”

THANK YOU SO MUCH FOR SUPPORTING OUR LEMONADE STAND!

To all St. Cletus parishioners, "Thank You" so much for buying the lemonade, cross necklaces and baked goods last Sunday from the 6th grade Religious Education students. So many people gave generous donations and gave the students a perfect example of Catholic faith in action. The students were very impressed and will long remember your stewardship. We raised $550 altogether, enough to buy a llama and a flock of chickens through the Heifer Project and still donate $380 to earthquake victims in Haiti and Chile. The students learned about planning a project, baking and making crosses, and most importantly about the gifts of grace when they do God's work. Thanks again for making that lesson come alive for them.
