Notes from Fr. Edgar...

TWENTY-FOURTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Today we are at a crucial point in Mark's Gospel and Jesus asks a crucial question of his disciples: 'But who do you say that I am?' Up to this moment, through his miracles and healings, Jesus had been revealing himself to them as the Son of God and, through the revelation given him by the Holy Spirit, Peter finally understood and declared: 'You are the Christ'. He got it; they got it! And this marks the end of the first stage of revelation: Jesus was revealed as the Christ, the Son of the eternal Father. From that moment on the disciples could no longer live their lives apart from Jesus. They knew they had to follow him in obedience, for he was their Lord.

Jesus, however, immediately began to lead them into a second, more profound understanding of his own person by teaching that he had to suffer, die and be raised up out of death. That's the part that did not sit well with his disciples and the reason the Pharisees, the Scribes did not like Jesus at all. His way was to be a way of suffering, humiliation and death, not the way of a powerful, glorious Messiah. The disciples had to begin the journey into a new depth of understanding that Peter found scary. Peter's reaction reminds me of my grandma in Puerto Rico when I announced that I was going build a hand glider and jump from the roof of the house. She said, "Dios libre!" (God forbid!) Scandalized, Peter tried to steer Jesus in a different direction, seeking to protect him. Jesus rebuked Peter insisting that he had to suffer, die and rise again.

Why did Jesus say to Peter "Get behind me, Satan!"? Although he was doing it unintentionally, Peter was putting into words the exact same temptations that were storming Jesus at that moment. Jesus did not want to die. He knew that he had powers which he could use for his own glory—he did not have to suffer this if he didn't want to. At this moment Jesus was fighting again the battle of temptations in the wilderness. This was the devil tempting him again to fall down and worship him, to take his way instead of God's way.

It is a strange thing, and sometimes a terrible thing, that the tempter sometimes speaks to us in the voice of a well-meaning friend or even a family member. We may have decided on a course which is the right course but which will inevitably bring trouble, loss, unpopularity, sacrifice. And some well-meaning friend tries with the best intentions in the world, to stop us: "Remember, that you have a wife and a family. You can't do this." "You might lose your job, friends, family support, etc." It is possible for someone to love us so much that he or she wants us to avoid trouble and to play safe.

The tempter can make no more terrible attack than in the voice of those who love us and who think they seek only our good. That is what happened to Jesus that day; that is why he answered so sternly.

When God calls us in our heart to do something we know it's the right thing, not even the pleading voice of love should silence Him or detract us from doing what He asks of us. Is it easy? No. That is why Jesus says to us, "...take up your cross and follow me."

The mark of the cross that we received in baptism is placed on our foreheads every year at the beginning of Lent to remind us of the kind of life we have undertaken when we put on Christ, the Messiah. It's a life that calls us to enjoy the hope of eternal happiness and peace; it calls us to bring everyone inside the circle of our love, and accept the sacrifices associated with it, including the dying to all that negatively impact our life and the life of others.

Questions that we might ask ourselves today are, in what ways have we associated ourselves with the Cross of Christ and His Death? In what concrete ways have we verified our own discipleship in a world that rejects Christ and what He stands for?

By the way, my grandma was right. Most of the time it is God who speaks through those who love us. That is why we need to learn to discern the spirit.

May the Holy Spirit enlighten us that we may be able to discern God's voice in the myriads of voices in the world.

THE THREE LEVELS OF CHRISTIAN DISCIPLESHIP

by Fr. Ron Rolheiser

Nikos Kazantzakis once suggested that there are three kinds of souls and three kinds of prayers:

- I am a bow in your hands, Lord, draw me, lest I rot.
- Do not overdraw me, Lord, I shall break.
- Overdraw me, Lord, and who cares if I break!

When I look at life, I also see three great struggles, not unlike those so poetically named by Kazantzakis. And each of these has a corresponding level of Christian discipleship. What are those great struggles and those levels of discipleship? There are three major phases in our human and spiritual journey:

- Essential discipleship - The struggle to get our lives together.
- Generative discipleship - The struggle to give our lives away
- Radical discipleship - The struggle to give our deaths away

Essential discipleship and the struggle to get our lives together is our initial task in life. Beginning with our first breath, we struggle to find an identity and to find fulfillment and peace there. We are born in a hospital and soon taken home to where we have parents, a family, and a place that's ours. This period of our lives, childhood, is intended by God and nature to be a secure time. As a child, our major struggles have not yet begun. But that will change dramatically at puberty.

Simply put, puberty is designed by God and nature to drive us out of our homes in search of a home that we ourselves build. And it generally does its job well! It hits us with a tumult and violence that overthrows our childhood and sends us out, restless, sexually-driven, full of grandiose dreams, but confused and insecure, in search of a new home, one that we build for ourselves. This struggle, from being restlessly driven out of our first home to finding a place to call home again, is the journey of Essential discipleship.

Normally we do find our way home again. At a certain point, we land. We find ourselves "at home" again, namely, with a place to live that's our own, a job, a career, a vocation, a spouse, children, a mortgage, a series of responsibilities, and a certain status and identity. At that point, the fundamental struggle in our life changes, though it may take years for us to consciously realize and accept this. Our question then is no longer: "How do I get my life together?" Rather it becomes: "How do I give my life away more deeply, more generously, and more meaningfully?" At that stage, we enter the second phase of discipleship.

Generative discipleship and the struggle to give our lives away is a stage most people reach sometime during their twenties or thirties, though some take longer to cross that threshold. Moreover, the crossover is never pure and complete, the struggle for self-identity and private fulfillment never completely goes away; but, at a certain point, we begin to live more for others than for ourselves. Generative discipleship begins then and, for most of us, this will constitute the longest period of our lives. During all those years, our task in life is clear: How do I give my life away more purely, more generously, more generatively?

But being the responsible adults who run the homes, schools, churches, and businesses of the world is not the final stage our lives. We still must die; the most daunting task of all. And so our default line must shift yet one more time: There comes a point in our lives, when our real question is no longer: "What can I still do so that my life makes a contribution?" Rather the question becomes: "How can I now live so that my death will be an optimal blessing for my family, my church, and the world?"

Radical discipleship and the struggle to give our deaths away is the final stage of life: As Christians, we believe that Jesus lived for us and that he died for us, that he gave us both his life and his death. But we often fail to distinguish that there are two clear and separate movements here: Jesus gave his life for us in one movement, and he gave his death for us in another. He gave his life for us through his activity, through his generative actions for us; and he gave his death through his passivity, through absorbing in love the helplessness, diminutions, humiliations, and loneliness of dying.

Like Jesus, we too are meant to give our lives away in generosity and selflessness, but we are also meant to leave this planet in such a way that our diminishment and death is our final, and perhaps greatest, gift to the world. Needless to say that's not easy. Walking in discipleship behind the master will require that we too will eventually sweat blood and feel "a stone's throw" from everybody. This struggle, to give our deaths away, as we once gave our lives away, constitutes Radical discipleship.

When we look at the demands of discipleship, we see that one size does not fit all!

FOOD PANTRY UPDATE

It's not news to any of us that food prices and the cost of living continue to rise, while many are still faced with loss of jobs or facing a wage freeze or fewer hours at work. We are all facing hard choices, and this is especially true of our Food Pantry clients. Their hard choices between rent and food, utilities and food, health care and food, often lead to hunger.

Fortunately, you-and many non-parishioners and friends throughout the community - continue to recognize the need, and address it by donating time, food, and funds to support this ministry. Thank you for taking action during September-Hunger Action Month-and throughout the year!

As we continue to replenish our stock in anticipation of increased numbers in October, we are in need of most of our staples, including soup, tuna, peanut butter, jelly, cereal, soup, chili, canned meats, boxed side dishes, macaroni and cheese, pasta & pasta sauce, canned fruit, canned vegetables, toilet paper, diapers, and "extras", including juice, coffee, crackers, cooking oil, baking supplies, and dish or laundry detergent. Please choose an item or two from the above-or any other in date non perishable- & bring it/them to church when you come to Mass, or anytime daily between 7:45 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. Again, thank you for your continued generosity, even in these challenging economic times.

When we truly believe that all we have is a gift from God, then we must be willing to deny ourselves some things so that we can share our blessings as God intended them to be shared.
