NOTES FROM FATHER BOB...

FIFTH SUNDAY OF EASTER 2013

In Luton, England, there is a network called Grassroots—a Christian group, supported by local churches and by national church organizations. Luton is a post-industrial town, just under an hour north of London. It is an extremely diverse community, with many different faith groups represented there.

Living as neighbors with Muslims, Sikhs, Hindus and many others, Christians face a choice—to be a closed community or to be open to dialogue and to discussion, to get to know people of other faiths in order to promote understanding of each other. Grassroots has chosen the latter course, and actively supports youth groups, women's groups and so on, which cooperate and join together with groups from other faiths. For example, a youth group from the local Methodist church has been paintballing and cycling with a Muslim youth group. With Grassroots' support, the groups that have chosen to do things together have found that in meeting each other openly, they see the many things they have in common. They share interests and they share values.

We hear so much news, in today's world, about conflict and division, often among people of different faiths or cultures. Yet we all share a common humanity. Grassroots has found that Christians, who feel confident in their faith, can engage fully and without fear with people of other faiths, and that those of other faiths can be equally welcoming.

In today's Gospel, Jesus prepares his disciples for a different way of life, one where he is no longer physically present with them. He reminds them of his love for them, and teaches that they need to respond to that love and to express it, so that others may know that they are disciples of Jesus. He is trying to help them to work out what it means to be a disciple.

As we hear throughout the Acts of the Apostles, the early disciples constantly had to face misunderstanding and even hostility. They faced crises and had to make major decisions about their identity as the Church. How open should they be? Should they close in on themselves so as to preserve what they believed in, and keep it safe? Or should they spread the Good News freely, and accept those who would not traditionally have been accepted as part of their community? How should they interact with other communities?

Jesus told his disciples to learn from him. What sort of love had Jesus shown in his life and ministry? Jesus' love was not exclusive. It was not focused only on those who seemed to be "good." In fact, his love reached out even more to those who were excluded, to those who were treated as "unclean" because they had not kept to the rules. St. Paul, too, knew that God's love could not be contained and restricted. God reaches out to everyone. God's love is wide enough and deep enough to include everyone, whoever they may be.

Like the first disciples, we too are followers of Christ, and Christ calls us, as he called them, to be witnesses of his love for all. What does this mean for the Christian community today?

We are called to decide, like St. Paul and St. Peter early on in the Church's life, what sort of community we should be: should we be restricted and closed, in order to protect ourselves and our faith; or should we be open, compassionate and welcoming? The early Church chose to reach out to others. It faced difficulties, challenges and threats. It faced violence and hostility. But even when they met opposition and persecution, the members of those early communities continued to welcome and to reach out to others in love.

Many people today are afraid of those who are different from them – and this fear limits them. However, if we are confident in God's love and choose to follow Christ's example, we can overcome our fear. Fear hampers true enjoyment of life; it stops us from doing things. We cannot flourish in a state of fear—if instead of seeing possibilities, we see only threats, instead of hopes and dreams, we worry ourselves into nightmares. The early disciples must have been afraid at times too, but their faith was so strong that they faced their challenges with confidence. Through prayer, through reflection and through meaningful conversation with others, we too can face our own challenges with confidence and trust in God.

*Easter Peace and Confidence,
Father Bob
Pastor*

KNOW THE MASS, ONE WORD AT A TIME

Go

No one wants to be summarily dispatched or just sent away. "Go. Move on." It's not a nice message. Strangely, it's the last message we get at Sunday Mass. In all the different forms, we are told to go and to move on. "Go forth, the Mass is ended. Go and announce the Gospel of the Lord. Go in peace, glorifying the Lord by your life. Go in peace." Not only is that the final message of the Mass, for us it's also a welcomed message. We want to go and we need to move on and out.

The Dismissal at the end of Mass is critical. We are entrusted with a mission and a high purpose. We are told to move to the world from which we originally came. We have heard God's Word and shared in the self-sacrificing love of Jesus who has been our Bread of Life. Now, we have a purpose and responsibility. Our mission is to bring and live out what we have celebrated in the Mass. So, we go not only in peace but with joy, determination, and hope.

COME JOIN US IN HONORING MARY ON SUNDAY, MAY 5

Come and join the Living Rosary on Sunday, May 5, when we pray the rosary in honor of Mary. We will meet in the Kindergarten Room (98) in the Education Building after the 11:00 a.m. Mass (about 12:15 p.m.) to pray the entire rosary together. Come and stay as long as you can. Or stop by our table in the vestibule that weekend to find out more about the Living Rosary and ways to honor Mary. St. Cletus parishioners pray the rosary daily before the 8:00 a.m. Mass and every Sunday after the 11:00 Mass (in the children's room at the back of church). Did your child get a rosary for their First Communion? Bring the family so they can learn to pray the rosary as a group. There is nothing more moving than to be lead in prayer by children. Act on whatever will draw you closer to Mary during her month of May. For more information, call Mary Lu Gebka at (708) 579-3987.

THE YEAR OF FAITH

THE NEW EVANGELIZATION: GUARDING, KEEPING, AND SHARING THE FAITH

by Martha Fernández-Sardina

"Guard the deposit of faith. But what is this deposit? It is a treasure entrusted to you by teaching, not by research; it is not something to use as you please but to hand on to others. Hence you must not add new Truths to it, you must guard accepted truth; you must keep the treasure of the faith un plundered and undefiled. Have in safe keeping this gift entrusted to you and pass it on to others. Gold you have received; give gold back; do not substitute lead in its place. Teach others what you yourself were taught, by new methods if you like, but not new doctrines."

-St. Vincent of Lerins

"Fiddler on the Roof" is a humorous story of Jewish families in which younger generations move away from the customs of their ancestors' faith, as the role of "tradition" is both upheld and questioned, defended and minimized.

Today, the same is true. But we must not forget that tradition means to hand over or pass on that which we ourselves have received: "For I received from the Lord what I also delivered to you" (1 Cor 11:23). Sacred Tradition, Sacred Scripture, and the Magisterium of the Catholic Church are the means chosen by God for the faithful transmission of the Christian Faith. Like a sturdy three-legged stool on which we confidently place our weight, the "deposit of faith" contains the beauty of God's revelation "handed on" to us, inviting us to rest assured that in receiving, guarding, and faithfully sharing this "treasure" we and others will have solid ground on which to stand.

The New-Evangelization—new in ardor, methods and expressions—demands that we keep the Faith, that is, that we remain faithful to the 'deposit of faith' given by Christ to the apostles and their successors. It also demands that we give that Faith away in a manner that speaks to the new realities we face. We will overcome relativism, secularism, and atheism if we guard and give, keep and share the treasures of our Faith, following Jesus' admonition to embrace both the new and the old: "the head of a household (who) brings from his storeroom both the new and the old."

ACTION STEP: What are you doing this year to keep the Faith "traditioned" to us by Christ through the apostles and to give it away as a lay "apostle," mindful that the new methods does not mean new doctrines?

Along with many volunteers from the Lewis University nursing program, St. Cletus parishioners, local doctors and dentists, La Grange police and fire departments, and the Cook County Sheriff Youth Services, our students learn everything from eating healthy to internet safety. Our students look forward to this opportunity every year. This year we were pleased to welcome back one of our alums, Dr. Mary Ellen Moore! Dr. Moore is a 2000 graduate of St. Cletus, and we are very happy she returned to share her expertise with us.

ST. CLETUS SCHOOL LIBRARY

The 5th & 6th grade students of St. Cletus School participate in a Battle of the Books during the school year culminating in a "cross town battle" against St. Francis Xavier School in May. Each year, eight books are chosen from our Battle of the Books list; students are required to read several of these Battle books throughout the school year.

Battle teams are formed in their homerooms and these teams work together to prepare for the Battle. With the help of La Grange Library, questions pertaining to the Battle books are developed & contests are held to determine the winning Battle teams in each homeroom. The 2nd round of the Battle determines the winning 5th grade team & the winning 6th grade team.

These teams will proceed to the final Battle, this year hosted by St. Francis, will determine the 2012 Battle of the Books champions. There is even a traveling trophy which passes between the schools. This friendly rivalry encourages our students to read for pleasure and hopefully help develop our students into life long readers!
