NOTES FROM FATHER BOB...

FEAST OF CORPUS CHRISTI 2013

"Meals aren't what they used to be," said the old man. And I think he may have had a point. There was a time, not so long ago, when meals were special occasions, when they provided families and friends with a welcome opportunity to get together, when what was shared was not only food and drink but also, and even more importantly, each other's company. They were leisurely events and the fact that they were usually prefaced by grace was a hint that there might even be something sacred about them. But today, with "fast foods" and self-service and meals-on-knees in front of the TV, they are often little more than the meeting of a basic biological need; they are hurried, 'let's-get-this-over-and-get-on-with-something-else' affairs; and of course grace before meals has become a rarity.

And so it is difficult for us to appreciate how deeply meals were valued by ancient peoples, including our Lord's own people, Israel. They regarded them as having a sacred character. And so even in Old Testament times, salvation was often pictured in terms of a meal, a wonderful banquet with bountiful food and drink.

Against that background today's gospel takes on a rich significance, for it tells of an occasion when Jesus fed a huge crowd of over five thousand people with a few loaves and fishes; all had enough and more than enough to eat; there were no less than twelve baskets-full of leftovers. The fact that this incident - or one similar to it - is recorded no less than six times in the four gospels is a sure indication of its importance. It wasn't simply the miracle that filled the gospel-writers with astonishment but rather the magnificent generosity that marks Jesus' presence. After all, even before the meal began Jesus had been teaching his audience "about the kingdom of God" and curing "those in need of healing"; the multiplication of loaves, like the healings, was an illustration of what the kingdom of God means.

But even that is not the whole story. In giving their accounts, Matthew, Mark, Luke and John seem to have had in mind what happened on the night before Jesus died. It was then, as today's second reading reminds us, that Jesus instituted the Eucharist; he gave us the Mass; he gave us Holy Communion. The central act of Christian worship for all times would be in the form of a sacred meal, a banquet where his followers would be nourished on his own Body and Blood, and that meal would in its turn be a foreshadowing of the banquet of heaven.

St. Luke seems to go out of his way to show this close connection between the feeding of the five thousand and the Eucharist by the way in which he tells the story: he describes how Jesus took the loaves, blessed them (he did say his grace before meals!), broke them and gave them (handed them over to the disciples to distribute). Those four actions - taking, blessing, breaking and giving - are precisely the actions of Jesus at the Last Supper and of course they are the actions which we witness at every Mass. Indeed, you might say that they provide a brief description of the Mass. After the Liturgy of the Word, the priest takes the bread and wine, which represent ourselves and our lives, and offers them to God; then at the consecration he blesses them so that they become the Body and Blood of Jesus; later he breaks the bread and, if it were practical, would divide it so that everyone who wishes might receive a portion; and finally, he gives us the bread and wine as our food and drink in Holy Communion.

To celebrate the feast of Christ's Body and Blood is to rejoice and give thanks, because the Eucharist is the sharing in a meal infinitely more wonderful than that described in today's gospel. But it is also to experience a challenge. To receive that Body which was given up for us and that Blood which was shed for us, is to be called to follow the example of Jesus' total self-giving. To be fed by sacred food, is to be strengthened to live lives, lives devoted to God and our brothers and sisters. To be nourished by one who laid down his life for us, is to prepare ourselves to make sacrifices. To be invited as a guest to the table of the Eucharist, is to be invited to share with others from our abundance.

It is the Mass that matters; yes, that is true, but only if our lives are in tune with the sacred meal that the Mass sets before us.

*Blessings,
Father Bob
Pastor*

KNOW THE MASS, ONE WORD AT A TIME

Invoke

Just before the priest pronounces the words of consecration over the bread and wine, he invokes the transforming power of the Holy Spirit to come upon the gifts. "Make holy, therefore, these gifts, we pray, by sending down your Spirit upon them like the dewfall."

This invocation envisions the Spirit transforming the gifts of bread and wine into the Body and Blood of Christ. At the same time, because we bring ourselves to Mass to give ourselves over to the Lord in our self-gift, the prayer also invokes the Holy Spirit to come upon us and transform us as well into the Body of Christ.

The double invocation of the Holy Spirit on bread and wine and on us and the double transformation of both into the Body of Christ show us the power of God at work in our worship. Far from a common gathering of like-minded people or friends, our celebration of Mass is an extraordinary experience. Here we know and taste the transforming power of God's Holy Spirit—invoked on the gifts of bread and wine and the gift of ourselves.

FUND FOR RETIRED PRIESTS the Only Annual Collection for Retired Priests of the Archdiocese of Chicago SECOND COLLECTION NEXT WEEKEND

This fund raising campaign will benefit just the retired priests of the Archdiocese of Chicago and is not to be confused with the Annual National Campaign for Retired Religious (nuns, priests, and brothers).

Thank God many continue to serve our needs. About half of our retired priests, who can still drive, are happy to help out in priest-short parishes, hospitals and wherever you need them.

The older, sick or infirm priests live with fond memories of you and pray for your needs daily. They will be grateful for whatever you can give. Envelopes are available in the pews this weekend.

Year of Sunday Mass Question of the Week

June 2, 2013
Corpus Christi

In today's Gospel, Jesus fed the crowds with more than enough food. In today's feast of Corpus Christi, we celebrate that Jesus feeds us today with his Body and Blood.

Have I truly appreciated this sustaining and life-giving presence of the Lord in my life as an unfailing resource?

FOOD PANTRY UPDATE

- The food pantry volunteers are busy packing 225+ bags for our June 13 Food Pantry distribution.
- Most needed items this week are cereal, dry pinto beans (2-3lb. bags work best for us) canned fruit, juice, coffee, and paper goods.
- Our clients are most grateful to the volunteers they see, as well as those who work behind the scenes—they realize how many people donate grocery items and put in volunteer hours to keep our pantry in operation.
- Special thanks to those graduating Seniors from Nazareth, who, as part of their “Circle the City” service day, sorted, boxed or shelved items we received from the Post Office Food Drive.
- Thanks to all who keep our pantry up and running. Please keep our client families in your prayers.

THE EUCHARIST

Just as the bread, which is made from the earth, when God is invoked is no longer common bread but the Eucharist, both earthly and heavenly, so our bodies, after we have received the Eucharist, are no longer corruptible, since they hold the hope of the resurrection.

FAITH FAMILY FUTURE

The Holy Rosary

The first graders had a wonderful opportunity to make Rosaries with St. Cletus Parish members Jenny Jarosz and a friend – Maria Polston. Father Bob came in to bless the Rosaries before the children took them home. The first grade has been learning about the Rosary and the prayers that go with it. They have been praying the Rosary during class as well.

Enrollment for the 2013-14 school year is now open. If you are interested in high quality Catholic education for your child, or know someone who is, contact the school office (708) 352-4820 to schedule an appointment. Space is limited, and enrollment is on a first come, first served basis.
