NOTES FROM FATHER BOB...

THIRTY-FIRST SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME 2013

The story of Zacchaeus, which appears only in Luke's gospel, is an example of Luke's delight in turning social expectations upside down. At the beginning of his gospel, Luke records the Magnificat, which includes this line: "the hungry he has filled with good things, the rich sent empty away." Of course, the poor and the hungry are not just the materially needy. They are also those who get things wrong in life, but recognize their mistakes and turn humbly to God. Luke selects certain stories that bring out this relationship of a compassionate God and a repentant sinner. Like the father in the story of the prodigal son, who goes out to meet the son and welcome him before he can say a word, in today's gospel Jesus calls Zacchaeus down from his perch in the tree, before he has a chance to say anything. Jesus wants to dine with Zacchaeus, the man of no stature, who defrauds and betrays his people. No wonder the crowd mutters! Jesus is choosing as his companion a known sinner, the outsider and pariah. For Zacchaeus, the 'celebrity of the moment' breaks into his life and wants to be with him. How does he react? There is no false humility. Zacchaeus hurries down and welcomes Jesus joyfully, promising in the next breath to make generous amends for all the wrong he has done. It may well be the power of Jesus and his mercy which frees Zacchaeus to react like this. The important thing is that he does seize the moment. Jesus welcomes him and he welcomes Jesus in return. For this, Jesus commends him as a true son of Abraham.

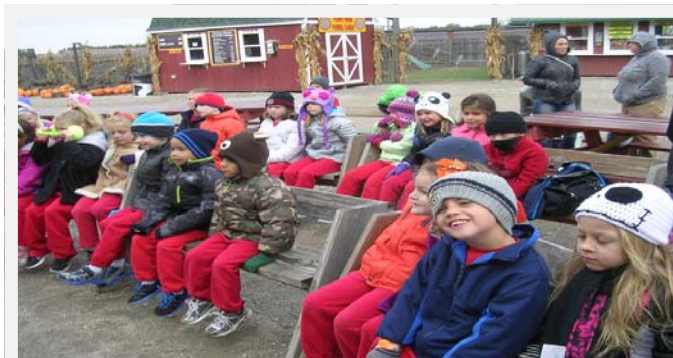

When Jesus calls, is our reaction that of the crowd or that of Zacchaeus? If we find ourselves muttering, it usually means that there is more than a touch of self-righteousness lurking in our hearts. If we become self-righteous, we will always view others critically, zeroing in on their failures and weaknesses. We will become self-reliant, plodding our way through life with grim determination. We will be closer to God. Yes, we know we are called to do his will, but we will do it by ourselves, relying on our own strength. Our image of God will be that of a hard taskmaster, who is always trying to catch us and note our failures. We are not going to be impressed by a God who squanders compassion and rushes out of his way to help the fragile and forgotten. This is not how God should behave! Yet, this is exactly how Jesus behaves and how he wants us to understand God. "Soften your hearts," he seems to be saying to us, "and you will see the miracles that happen." To be as kindly as God, it helps if we can acknowledge how kindly he has been to us. Whatever mess we find ourselves in—whether brought on by ourselves or others—God is always there, his arms outstretched and his eyes full of compassion. We have only to look up and receive his glance of love.

Blessings and Prayers,

Father Bob
Pastor

THE YEAR OF FAITH

WHERE IS JESUS TODAY?

by Danielle Bean

"There are a great many people today who think that [faith in] Jesus is irrelevant in the modern context. I suspect these people are suffering from a modern madness caused by an ignorance of self and history. As we get to know ourselves, our deepest needs, and the history of humanity, the relevance of Jesus Christ to modern man becomes startlingly clear."

—Matthew Kelly

The Mass we celebrate for a small, baptized soul who left us before she was capable of sin is not a Requiem Mass. It is a "Mass of the Angels," with a focus on confident joy.

A few years ago, I attended one of these Masses with grieving friends and family members, and I was particularly struck by the words of confidence and light that make up this rite. These stood in stark contrast to the darkness and the pain of loss that enveloped us.

At a Mass of the Angels, we thank God for a young life and sing "Alleluia." Our loved one is with God. We know the Good News, and it is cause for celebration.

We do believe; help our unbelief.

Where is God? He is right here with us. He is calling us closer to him. When we are reeling from the pain of enormous losses, it can be excruciatingly hard to answer. We are crushed, broken, and sick with grief. Our small shoulders struggle beneath the weight of the cross.

But we need not answer for ourselves. It is at times like these that the Church herself answers for us—with a song. Her sweet clear voice cuts through the cold and the dark as she sings: Alleluia. With the patient, tireless trust of a child, she sings "Alleluia," in the dark.

Action Step

Are we listening? Do we have faith enough to join the song?

ALL-POWERFUL YET CARING GOD

It used to be that when I thought, "Old Testament," I thought of narratives written many centuries before Christ. Then I learned that today's passage from the book of Wisdom was written less than one hundred years before Jesus came along. These words were so contemporaneous with Jesus that he himself conceivably could have written or spoken them. He certainly lived them.

The Wisdom reading is a poetic prayer celebrating a Creator-God before whom the universe is like a grain of sand, yet who is still lovingly concerned with every individual. This is the God whom Jesus reveals, with unlimited power over all creation, yet watching out for sinners climbing trees.

Zacchaeus was no ordinary tax collector, but the chief tax collector, and "a wealthy man." But he wasn't too proud to run ahead and clamber up into a sycamore tree just to get a glimpse of Jesus. Maybe, sinner though he was, he recognized in this wandering preacher the object of the Wisdom poet's adoration.

It's your last opportunity to stop by the Church narthex and drop off coats. The men's and women's winter coats can be new or gently worn. The 7th Grade St. Cletus Girl Scout Troop will be collecting these items for the St. Vincent de Paul Center in Chicago after all Masses this weekend. The collection ends on Sunday, November 10.

Thank you for your support!

Raising Faith-Filled Kids • One Word at a Time

Remember

In Together magazine, John Dumschat recalls the day he left his house in a rage. As dinnertime neared, he was reluctant to bring such anger back home. He wrote, "We have a custom of beginning meals by holding hands to say grace. The rage still simmered, but this was our custom. All eyes focused on me, the father. I reached out and we all joined hands. We felt a profound sense of healing and peace the moment our hands linked. The anger was gone, replaced by the love that gives our family its existence."

Notice three things: They had a customary way of saying grace. Christ's peace flowed from one person to another as they prayed. Their family ritual helped them all remember who they were and what mattered most. Foster family customs in your home. —Tom McGrath

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

The St. Cletus School and Religious Education 7th grade students and their parents gathered around the baptismal font on October 17, as they began the “official” preparation process for the reception of the sacrament of Confirmation.

The 7th grade St. Cletus students formed a Living Rosary around the church on the feast of Our Lady of the Rosary. The students prayed the Mission rosary wearing colored shirts representing our brothers and sisters from the continents of the world.

FOOD PANTRY UPDATE

There's still time to donate some non-perishables for our monthly food distribution, which is Thursday, November 14. We are serving 300+ families each month so we are in constant need of replenishment. THANK YOU to all who support this ministry!

- Most needed items at this time are dry pinto beans, canned tomatoes/sauce, canned fruit, assorted dry pasta noodles, and all sizes of diapers.
- Drop off the items in the designated food bins in the Church Narthex when you come to Mass, or daily 7:45 a.m.-4:00 p.m.
- Remember we are collecting Jewel stamps for Rachel Ray Dinnerware for our Advent Giving Tree out reach. If you are not collecting them for yourself, please put the stamps in an envelope and place with your food donations, or drop the envelope in the collection basket, or at the rectory. We have enough for a couple of sets of dinnerware thus far. Keep up the good work!
- Thank you to those who participated in the Knights of Columbus Food Drive benefitting our Pantry, which took place on Saturday, October 26. We are most grateful to our neighbors who support our community pantry.

It's "Turkey Bucks" Time!

During November, when you do your grocery shopping at the Jewel store across the street from St. Cletus, please don't forget to tell your cashier that you would like to help St. Cletus Food Pantry by purchasing $1, $5, or $10 in Jewel "Turkey Bucks." Your thoughtful donation will help bring a traditional holiday dinner to a family in our community that otherwise may have gone without. Thank you!
