NOTES FROM FATHER BOB...

ASCENSION OF THE LORD 2014

Acts 1:1-11; Ps 47:2-3,6-9; Eph 1:17-23; Mt 28: 16-20

We rejoice first of all because of what the Ascension means to Jesus himself. It has two aspects. The one described in today's first reading and the Gospel is the one we tend to think of automatically whenever we hear the word "ascension". It is a visible event; it takes place on the Mount of Olives some forty days after Easter; it is witnessed by the apostles; it leaves them gazing up into the sky in a state of bewilderment.

But in a sense all this is just a sign, a visible way of manifesting to the apostles a more wonderful event that has already taken place at the moment of the Resurrection. Jesus is already exalted; already his body has been glorified, though for some time the glory remains hidden, while he completes the instruction of his disciples.

Once the time of instruction is over, all can be revealed. It's revealed in terms of a cloud which takes him gently into its embrace, hiding him from the disciples' sight; it's spoken of by the gospel writers in terms of his being "taken up to heaven" and being seated "at the right hand of the Father". Of course, Jesus is not some kind of super astronaut, heaven is not a place in the sky and God doesn't have hands; but what can we do when all we have are feeble words with which to express the inexpressible? The fact is that Jesus as man has entered into a new and glorious kind of existence, beyond our understanding.

So on this day we rejoice because our Lord and Master, having lived among us, having suffered, died and risen in glory, has now in his humanity reached his true home with the Father. His humanity has now been drawn into the power and majesty of the Blessed Trinity.

However, there is another reason why this is a day of rejoicing, and it is because the Ascension has extraordinary implications for ourselves. In the first place, as Jesus promised, it is to our advantage that he has disappeared from our sight. For now, through the Holy Spirit, he is more profoundly and more intimately present to us and to the whole of humanity than he ever could be when visibly present on earth. Furthermore, Jesus' Ascension reveals the destiny to which we are all called. Our true home is heaven; united by faith and love with our exalted Lord, we look forward to our final homecoming, to being with Christ in glory. In the lovely words of today's Preface, Christ "has past beyond our sight, not to abandon us but to be our hope...Where he has gone, we hope to follow."

According to today's Gospel, our Lord's final command was to take his message to all creatures and to baptize all who would believe. Because that command has been carried out down through the centuries, you and I have heard the Good News; you and I have received the faith and been baptized. Perhaps today we ought to spend a little time reflecting prayerfully upon our good fortune, realizing again our duty to spread the Good News. Above all we can rejoice that through baptism we have embarked upon a journey to a haven, which is beyond all havens, that home where we shall exult forever with our risen, ascended and glorified Lord.

Ascension Blessings,

Father Bob
Pastor

June 2014

Dear Friends in Christ,

On the weekend of June 7–8, 2014, we will take up a special collection for the Retired Priests of the Archdiocese. During 2013, we mourned the death of thirty of our retired priests—the most who have died in a single year.

At their funerals, I listened to accolades for their ministerial service—the children they baptized, the homilies they preached, the Masses they celebrated, the hospitals and nursing homes they visited, the children they taught in our schools and religious-education programs, the weddings they witnessed and the families they comforted at countless funerals. Time and again, I heard stories of the selflessness with which our retired priests helped many parishes avoid reducing Mass schedules and other services.

Our retired priests still number 193, and they rely upon your help now. The Priests' Retirement and Mutual Aid Association (PRMAA) cares for our retired priests. As you know so well, the costs for health care, prescription drugs and nursing-home care continues to increase. Also, the priests' pension fund remains seriously impacted by the economic downturn. This special collection will help us continue to support our retired priests. This special collection in June is different from the December collection for retired men and women religious where the collection goes to those in religious orders; Archdiocesan priests do not receive any funds from that collection.

I want to take this opportunity to thank all of our retired priests for their lives of service and devotion. I also remember in prayer all of our retired priests who have died.

I am thankful to all of you for your immense generosity in this collection last year. I ask you to repeat your kindness this year. Your donations, your prayers and your good wishes are an affirmation of our retired priests.

Please pray for an increase in vocations to the priesthood. You and those you love are in my prayers; please keep me in yours.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

A Spanish Breakfast

As a way to finish their unit about food and in order to allow eighth grade students to use their Spanish communicative skills, students were asked to join Mrs. Hanson for breakfast. They were required to order their food only in Spanish. No menus were given, no dictionaries, no papers, nothing! Just their real speaking skills.

Everyone had a great time, the food was delicious and they got to experience a real Spanish setting! Some of them were surprised at how much they could say and understand without guidance; others appreciated that their peers were willing to help them out when they felt insecure to talk in Spanish.

Student Council Gift to the School

This year, the Student Council donated 26 Caudill, Bluestem & Monarch award nominated books to the St. Cletus School Library for the 2014-2015 school year. We are very glad that the students will have access to these wonderful books.

3D Printing and Design Class

Yesterday some students took time after school to learn about the exciting technology behind 3D printing. The librarians from the Brookfield Library demonstrated and answered questions about how a MakerBot Replicator 3D printer works and where this technology is going.

After the students understood how the printer works they were taught a basic Computer Aided Design (CAD) application and they started creating their own objects to be printed.

Call

My dad could whistle so loudly you could hear its piercing sound three blocks away. When we heard his signature tune, we'd come running home. That was just one way my dad was a good shepherd to us. He also guided us to ignore the calls of those who would lead us into bad behaviors and instead to listen to God's call to live a life worthy of being called Christian.

You can help your children become attuned to God's call by familiarizing them with stories from the Gospel; worshipping with the community on Sundays; and praying regularly at meals, bedtime, and in good times and bad. Be a good shepherd; teach your child how to listen for and recognize God's call. God will speak to all who call on him. —Tom McGrath

A MISSION FROM THE MOUNTAIN

Matthew is the only one of the evangelists who does not speak explicitly of or recount the departure of Jesus from his followers. Mark and Luke recount the Ascension, each in his own way; and John consistently has Jesus speak of the necessity of his departure so the Paraclete might come. Matthew situates his final scene for Jesus on top of a mountain in Galilee (not outside Jerusalem, as Luke does). This is the region where his mission originated, and throughout his Gospel the mountaintop has been the place for him to teach his followers. (We are familiar with the "Sermon on the Mount" from Matthew.) And here Jesus echoes those Ascension themes we hear from the other evangelists: It is Jesus himself, risen and glorified, charged with power from the Father, who sends us out; it is Jesus himself who gives us our mission to baptize, heal, teach, and proclaim the Good News of salvation; it is Jesus himself who will be with us always, as we continue to be his presence alive in the world.

ST. CLETUS SCHOOL BOARD VACANCIES

St. Cletus School Board is accepting applications to serve a three-year term on the Board beginning with the 2014-15 school year. The Board has two particular needs. We need one member to serve on the Marketing and Publicity Committee and another to serve and lead us with the Alumni Committee.

The Marketing and Publicity Committee is responsible for advertising and promoting the school's strengths and accomplishments across all forms of media, the recruitment of new families, and retention goals. Members are expected to establish an action plan to execute the above needs as well as support additional School Board initiatives.

The Alumni Chairperson is responsible for creating and distributing an Alumni Newsletter twice a year, work with the school office to update and maintain the alumni database, and coordinate two alumni events. The Chairperson should be able to establish a subcommittee of volunteers to assist with the above responsibilities.

Interested applicants should send their resume and a brief statement to schoolboard@stcletusparish.com.
