Notes from Fr. Bob...

FOURTH SUNDAY OF LENT

Stephen Wiltshire became famous when he was just a young boy. Born to West Indian parents who had immigrated to England, he had lost his father, could barely read or write, but was discovered to have an extraordinary gift for drawing buildings and townscapes.

First of all, his art teacher, Chris Marris, and then the literary agent, Margaret Hewson, supported and encouraged him in his special talent. He, himself, was passive about his ability; he just drew but at a highly technical level, even when he was but a young child. Margaret took him on drawing trips, first of all around London and then to Venice, Amsterdam, Russia and the United States. Stephen responded immediately to these new sights, and Margaret got him commissions and sponsorships, arranged and financed exhibitions, and helped him to produce his two best sellers “Floating Cities” and “Stephen Wiltshire’s American Dream”. She also found him a place at art school and established a trust fund to provide for his future. Her own exuberance and energetic personality seemed to inspire Stephen, as though his creativity took life from what Dr. Oliver Sacks, who accompanied them on some of their journeys, called “the exhilarating, whirlwind atmosphere Margaret seemed to create all around her.” Without such support it is doubtful that Stephen would have fully developed his gifts or have become known to the wider world.

We live in a limited and conditional world, whereas God inhabits an unlimited and unconditional world. We are asked to accept that we can share this much more wondrous world of God, despite being dead through our sins. Such a leap can only be brought about through faith, the belief that God is so generous with his mercy that the gap can be bridged between the two worlds. The grace that is offered to us through the death and resurrection of Jesus lifts us up out of sin and failure and gives us a place in heaven with him. It also restores us to the possibility living the good life we were always intended to live. The letter to the Ephesians explores how the mystery of salvation is made available to all. There is a profound conviction that Christ is the lord of the whole of creation and that all is taken up into his saving death and resurrection. We become again what we were meant to be at the world’s beginning, God’s work of art, but also, made in God’s image and likeness, artists in our turn. We can neither fully appreciate nor practice our calling without being constantly in touch with the brush of the painter, the poet’s pen, namely the presence of God, which we celebrate in word and sacrament. If the Temple was the symbol of God’s presence among his people in the Old Testament, we are now the new temple, the house where God lives in the Spirit, with Christ Jesus himself as the main cornerstone.

People sometimes struggle with life problems, we are told, because they suffer from low self-esteem. Coping with life needs a certain resilience, a certain confidence that enables us to ride the ups and downs we encounter. If we don’t think we are worth much, we will tend to think others think the same of us. We may even act in a way that gives others that impression and encourages them to ignore us or treat us with disdain. Or we might go to the opposite extreme, becoming bullying or boastful in the attempt to persuade others that we are really worth something. But if we are convinced in our hearts that we are God’s work of art, then our perception of life is very different. We are free to use our imagination more. We can explore what is old, what is new and what is different. We can be endlessly curious. The world is not hostile but somewhere we can give ourselves time to stand and stare and wonder. We can delight in others’ gifts as well as our own. This is where our real imitation of God begins, when we enable others to see their gifts and use them to the full. It is a sign of God’s love for us that we can move beyond our limitations and share in the splendor of creation. Our love is seen in our removing of each other’s limitations, allowing our spirits to soar freely in the image and likeness of their creator.

FOOD PANTRY - MATCHING GRANT UPDATE

WE DID IT! YOU made it happen! Thank you so much for your generous support. We hit our matching grant goal and turned $25,000 into $50,000! WOW!

We are so grateful for all of your support. As we all hit the 1 year mark of this pandemic, it's hard to believe how much has changed. This time last year we were sanitizing and cleaning extra in the food pantry space in the basement, not sure what this "coronavirus" thing was or if it was really coming our way.

Then a couple weeks later we were packing bags, setting up a drive thru, frantically looking to fill our empty shelves, and already seeing an increase in need.

You have been a constant throughout. We could have never done any of these pivots without your support this last year. You have truly fueled us and sustained us, as always. Thank you! Thank you!

LENTEN OUTREACH

TRYING NEW FOODS IN TIMOR-LESTE

Timor-Leste has the highest rate of child malnutrition in Asia, and many children suffer from stunting, which makes a big impact on a child's growth and future. Home gardens and fishponds are helping families provide better nutrition for their children. What do you eat to stay healthy? What can you do to ensure children have enough food to thrive? Visit crsricebowl.org to learn more.

Lidio da Silva with his 3 year old daughter in Libagua village in Timor Leste. The da Silva family are farmers who grow primarily maize and beans. After participating with the CRS nutrition program, they have changed what they eat as a family. In addition to maize and rice, they now buy meat and fish once a month. They have added carrot, eggs, cassava and pumpkin leaf from the market. This is sometimes challenging because they generally eat what they grow. They will only purchase food at the market when they have money. Since the program, they have learned to prioritize their spending toward food. Timor-Leste has the highest rate of child malnutrition in Asia with almost half of children under five stunted (low height for age). Research shows that rates of exclusive breastfeeding vary widely across the country (28-75%) and there is a lack of dietary diversity with only 13% of children under two years consuming a minimum acceptable diet.

On a national level, widespread poor growth is attributed to limited availability of nutritional foods and high child illness burden. In Timor-Leste, subsistence agriculture is the main livelihood strategy for the majority of the rural population. Subsistence in Timor-Leste is predominantly plant-based, with staple crops including rice, cassava, maize and beans. The country is food insecure, thus household nutritional security is difficult to achieve. TOMAK (To'os ba Moris Di'ak, or Farming for Prosperity) is an agricultural livelihoods and nutrition program supported by the Australian Government in Timor-Leste.

CRS is working with local partners and communities to improve production of nutritious vegetables promoting appropriate nutrition for all age groups and increase access to savings and lending through SILC.

WORD OF LIFE

"We are facing an enormous and dramatic clash between good and evil, death and life, the 'culture of death' and the 'culture of life'. We find ourselves not only 'faced with' but necessarily 'in the midst of' this conflict: we are all involved and we all share in it, with the inescapable responsibility of choosing to be unconditionally pro-life"

(The Gospel of Life 28).

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE OUTREACH

Adverse Childhood Experiences and Domestic Violence - Today much attention is given to traumatic experiences children have that cause long-lasting negative effects. These are called Adverse Childhood Experiences, or ACEs. They can be numerous, varied and have a cumulative effect. They might include violence, divorce, death, alcohol/drug abuse, suicide, prison, or a family disaster like unemployment or a tragic accident. Stressful social conditions also cause ACEs, such as living in under-resourced or racially segregated neighborhoods, poverty, frequently moving and hunger. Toxic stress from ACEs can change brain development and affect attention, decision-making, learning and response to stress. About 61% of adults surveyed across 25 states reported they had experienced at least one type of ACE, and nearly 1 in 6 reported they had experienced 4 or more types of ACEs. Children growing up with domestic violence or those experiencing teen dating violence will most certainly suffer some trauma which could easily result in difficulty forming healthy and stable relationships, finding steady employment or avoiding depression. These effects can also be passed on to victims' own children. ACEs are preventable. Creating and sustaining safe, stable, nurturing relationships and environments for all children and families can prevent ACEs and help all children reach their full potential.

MISSION LADIES

St. Cletus Parish received a sweet note and photos in the mail this week from St. Anthony's Hospital thanking the Mission Ladies for the dolls that they made. The St. Cletus Mission Ladies make dolls for hospitals as well as hats, lap robes, and Christening bibs for babies baptized at St. Cletus. They are currently working independently from home, but if you would like information on future meetings please call Dolores Scaletta, 708-839-9605.

Hello Saint Cletus Parish – Mission Ladies

Thank you very much for the nice footballs, hats, gloves, and assorted handmade dolls that you sent to us at Saint Anthony's Hospital on the Pediatric Ward this last Christmas. The children that we care for on our ward are very grateful for these items every year.

God bless all that you do, Nurse Stephen

These are some resources to help refresh and connect us as we approach the holy season of Lent. You can also try typing -“free Catholic resources for Lent” and a myriad of possibilities, in addition to these, appear. Some sites haven’t updated all their material but still offer timeless thoughts or suggestions.

During this unusual time when we may feel isolated or even estranged from our faith and one another, it is especially important that we seek ways to strengthen our relationship with God and each other. Our Lenten mantra of prayer, fasting and giving can be experienced in a new and special way this Lent.

WE NEE YOU - JOIN THE TEAM!

As the pandemic and the need for safety continues, we would like to increase our number of our reopening volunteers. This will allow us to continue to be open safely and will lift some of the workload for our current volunteers. We need 10 - 15 volunteers for each of our weekend masses. Fewer are required for other celebrations. We are also in need of daytime volunteers with flexibility, to assist at funerals. The Ushers and Greeters, the Cleaning Team and the Sacristans Team would all welcome additional volunteers. Please send us an email to reopening@stcletusparish.com to volunteer.

COMPASSIONATE CARE MINISTRY

The Compassionate Care Ministry is again badly in need of postage stamps for its notes of sympathy and support during the first year following the loss of a loved one. Each bereaved family receives six cards during that year. This means that if there are ten funerals during a period of one month, 50 stamps are needed in that month alone. Your generous donations have meant so much in the past and we are very grateful. If you are able to contribute to this worthwhile ministry in this way, it will be very much appreciated. Simply place them in an envelope marked CCM and put them through the slot in the rectory door—or drop them in one of the collection baskets located at each exit in the church building.

Sunday Notes

GOD'S MERCY

Today's reading from the second book of Chronicles contains a sort of "mini-history" of Israel. It highlights God's mercies in choosing Cyrus the Persian to be an instrument of deliverance when the people were in captivity in Babylon. Despite their sinfulness and the deserved punishment they were undergoing, God's mercy was lavished on the people in the form of a miraculous act of liberation.

The Letter to the Ephesians, in much more theological terms, gives a similar account of a God "who brought us to life with Christ—by grace you have been saved." The author stresses that it was when we were "dead in our transgressions" that God saved us, an act of pure grace. He emphasizes that it is not our own efforts that freed us from sin ("this is not from you"); rather, "it is the gift of God." This, of course, is the heart of the entire Pauline corpus, that salvation comes to us by faith in God's mercy, revealed in the death of Jesus.

TODAY'S READINGS

First Reading — The wrath and the mercy of the Lord are revealed in the exile and liberation of the chosen people
(2 Chronicles 36:14-16, 19-23) or 1 Samuel 16: 1b, 6-7, 10-13a.

Psalm — Let my tongue be silenced, if I ever forget you!
(Psalm 137) or Psalm 23.

Second Reading — By grace you have been saved
(Ephesians 2:4-10) or Ephesians 5:8-14.

Gospel — The Son was sent by God so that the world might be saved through him (John 3:14-21) or John 9:1-41 [1, 6-9, 13-17, 34-38].

Saturday:	Spring begins

FEAST OF FAITH

Lent, a Season of the Word

Each year on the First Sunday of Lent we hear one of the Gospel accounts of the temptation of Jesus. In Luke's account, the devil cites the scriptures repeatedly, urging Jesus to interpret them in a false, self-serving way—if God sends angels to protect those whom God loves (as it says in Psalm 91), then prove it! But Jesus resists this insidious temptation by turning to scripture passages that tell of right relationship with God—living by God's word, trusting in God, and worshiping God alone.

Jesus himself listened to the inspired word of God and let it shape and form him. Through the liturgy, we do the same. The readings we hear at Mass can teach us, but that is not their primary function. Rather, the scriptures are meant to reveal the Lord to us, to let us experience his presence, and to form us in our Christian identity. Christ's presence is realized by his spoken word, "since it is he himself who speaks when the Holy Scriptures are read in the Church" (Constitution on the Sacred Liturgy, 7). In the readings proclaimed at Mass, we hear the voice of Christ himself.

GOD UPHOLDS ME

I take for my sureties: The power of God to guide me, the might of God to uphold me, the wisdom of God to teach me, the eye of God to watch over me, the ear of God to hear me, the word of God to give me speech, the hand of God to protect me, the way of God to go before me, the shield of God to shelter me.

—St. Patrick

Stewardship Report

WHY ENROLL IN ELECTRONIC GIVING?

Online giving is an easy, safe and convenient way to make offertory contributions to St. Cletus. Your contribution is debited automatically from your checking, savings, or credit card account.

Online Giving makes it easy for you to fulfill your financial commitments to the parish even when you are unable to attend Mass. You can change the timing or the amount of your gift at any time. Giving electronically also helps our staff plan & budget.

Reasons to sign up for Online Giving:

- No need to write checks or bring cash to church.
- Peace-of-mind knowing that the church is receiving your contribution even if you are unable to attend.
- More secure than checks.
- All contributions are recorded for you on your bank statement with date of settlement.

How Do I Get Started?

Visit the St. Cletus Parish website at stcletusparish.com and click the “DONATE” BUTTON (pictured below) then click Sunday donations. We accept checks (ACH), debit and credit cards. If you have questions or need help, call Mary Zwolinski 708.352.6209

Tax Statement by Request Only

As tax time approaches, we ask everyone who would like a year-end statement of their Year 2020 financial offering to the parish to fill out the form below and drop it in the collection basket after Mass, or simply call the Parish Office at (708) 352-6209 and leave a message. Please include your name, phone and envelope # or address in your message. You may also email bkallal@stcletusparish.com and submit your request electronically. Rather than mail statements to everyone in the parish, it seems more prudent and conservative to only mail them to those who need them for tax returns. Of course, your statement is available anytime a need for it may arise. Thank you.
